

LIFE & SCIENCE

OUR MISSION

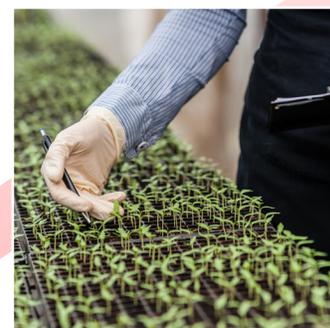

LST is a statewide, nonprofit, member organization whose mission is to advance the life science industry in Tennessee through advocacy, partnerships and alignment with economic and workforce development.

OUR REACH

OUR PROGRAMS

LST is active at both the state and federal level supporting policies that are focused on creating a sound ecosystem for the continued development and commercialization of life science technologies. Each year, our association plans state and federal policy days, during which our members meet with lawmakers to advocate for the industry. In addition, in 2018, Life Science TN established the Life Science Caucus of the Tennessee General Assembly. Today there are more than 25 members of the bicameral and bipartisan caucus, all committed to strengthening our industry in Tennessee.

LST is committed to supporting industry businesses and creating more jobs in the state with a particular focus on supporting the growth of early-stage life science companies. In 2014, we launched a statewide mentor network program that has resulted in a pool of more than 70 executive-level experts who provide free coaching to life science startup companies. The program demonstrated such successful results that LaunchTN partnered with LST to expand it in 2016.

Through LST's Academic Alliance, graduate students and post-doctoral researchers showcase their work and build connections with life science leaders in the state. With active chapters in Nashville, Memphis and Knoxville, the Academic Alliance hosts regular events to support the next generation of life science leadership.

LST hosts learning sessions and local gatherings throughout the year. Our capstone event is the annual conference, LSTCON, which attracts nearly 200 life science leaders across the state to hear from national experts about industry trends, policy, entrepreneurship and key upcoming issues.
